DRAFT DELAY BY CONGRESS IRKS WILLKIE

Way Soak for Quick Action if Legislators Fail To Move Soon.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Unless Congress acts quickly on conscription legislation, it was disclosed today by Wendell L. Willkie, head of the Republican presidential campaign, the Republican presidential nominee probably will make a speech soon urging its passage.

Willkie expressed approval of "some form of selective service." He said he had nothing to say on conscription since that time, but he said that he favored immediate action.

Talking with reporters on the subject of conscription, Willkie said that he had nothing to say on conscription since that time, but he said that he favored immediate action.

Axis Powers See Dire Things in U. S. Negotiations

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
The Berlin-Rome brotherhood is taking a very sour and uncompromising view of Uncle Sam's discussions with Canada regarding defense matters of mutual interest, and his conversations with England concerning the leasing of naval bases in the western hemisphere.

It would seem from the Fascist and Nazi press (which, as you know, is government controlled) that Sam is up to some sort of skulduggery whereby he hopes to gain at the expense of his friends and neighbors. He has, they say, imperialistic ambitions.

Unfair Advantage
The intimation is that Uncle Sam is preparing to take advantage of John Bull's tough position and appropriate British territory. That is to say Sam is planning to jump on John with both feet while the latter is down.

The Italian press is the more voluble on the subject of our taking advantage.

SENATE LIMITS CONSCRIPTS TO 900,000 MEN

No More To Begin Training at One Time; Seek 4 Million by 1945.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The senate acted today to limit to 900,000 men the number of conscripts who might begin active training at any one time during peace under the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military service bill.

The limitation was agreed to on a voice vote as a compromise between a proposal offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) for a limitation of 1,000,000 men and an amendment by Senator Lodge (D-Mass.) for a limitation of 800,000.

Previously the bill had carried no limitation and Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.) told his colleagues that it was the war department's plan to train 3,400,000 conscripts in the next five years.

Aim at 4 Million
It was the department's intention, Sheppard said, to create a "possible army" of 4,000,000 men by early 1945.

Sheppard stated this goal during debate on enactment of conscription legislation. He coupled with it the statement that to limit the number of peacetime draftees to 800,000 during any one period would "seriously cripple" the war department's plan.

President Roosevelt has allocated nearly $30,000,000 for preliminary construction of camps for the first 400,000 young men to be conscripted under the pending draft bill. Location of the sites was not disclosed.

Sheppard's outline of the war department's program brought a quick protest from Senator Tamm (R-Ohio) that such ambitious plan had been given by the Texas senator when he explained the Burke-Wadsworth bill at the beginning of debate.

Cites Increases
Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) observed that "week by week" the war department seemed to be increasing its requests to congress for men and equipment. Sheppard retorted that Wheeler was "absolutely mistaken," that no increase had been made in requests.

"I'm not going to make any speech because everything has been said," Senator Sheppard declared. "Additional speeches would only delay a final vote that everybody should want by now."

Even Foes Agree
Even opposition leaders, such as Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Wheeler (D-Mont.), conceded that the final test was near.

"I think we'll get a vote probably in the middle of the week," Wheeler said.

Vandenberg said he agreed with Democratic Leader Barkley "that it is time to vote on conscription, one way or the other."

Two prominent anti-conscriptionists, Senators Holt (D-W.Va.) and Clark (D-Mo.), gave notice, however, that they might oppose any drastic attempt to curb debate.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), who has threatened to call night session if necessary to expedite action, forecast a final vote by Wednesday or Thursday. He said that there would "not be more than 25 to 30 votes against" the bill.

Several Barriers Yet
Before a final vote can be taken, however, the Burke-Wadsworth measure must clear several hurdles. As it now stands the bill provides for immediate registration of all men between 21 and 31. An unspecified number of those registered would be subject to conscription.

U. S. ARMY CHIEFS DISCUSS TACTICS OF "BATTLE OF WISCONSIN"

SENTENCED IN FATAL MISHAP

Driver Sent to Reformatory After Pleading Guilty to Manslaughter.

Paul R. Messner, 27, of 202 Tully street, charged with manslaughter in connection with a traffic fatality here May 30, appeared in common pleas court Saturday and changed a former not guilty plea to guilty. He was sentenced to the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield for an indeterminate period by Judge Hector S. Young.

The charge grew out of the death of Orville N. Holt, 36, of 207 Barnhart street, who was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile while walking along North Main street extension Saturday day. He was struck, according to officers who investigated, by a car operated by Messner.

The charge was filed by Corporal W. D. Mariner, officer in charge of the state highway patrol sub-station here, through Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel. They headed an investigation of the accident.

John W. Watters, who represented Messner, was allowed $35 by Judge Young for acting as defense counsel.

8 ARRESTED IN THEFT OF CARS

All Seized in Morrow Co.; 4 Youths Held After Wide-spread Search.

Eight persons were arrested on auto theft charges after officials recovered two stolen cars, one near Cardington Saturday morning, and the other near Mt. Gil-ead last night.

Four youths who escaped Thursday night from the Boys Industrial school at Lancaster were arrested by the marshal of Ashley Saturday following an all-night search in which more than 60 law enforcement officers hunted. The youths were returned to the institution.

The search started Friday night when State Patrolman W. D. Busch of Marion and Marshal Edward Summerville of Cardington saw the stolen car at Cardington. They pursued and a train blocked the youths' escape at a crossing. The youths abandoned the car and fled into a woods. The officers summoned assistance from Marion, Delaware and other nearby cities. After searching for several hours they gave up the hunt. The youths were later found at Ashley.

Four colored men from Charleston, W. Va., and Columbus were arrested by Patrolmen Busch and Morgan of Marion, south of Mt. Gil-ead last night in connection with a car theft in West Virginia Aug. 11.

Celebration Cancelled
Illness of Mrs. Swank brought cancellation of the fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration of Dr. and Mrs. Swank last Wednesday at Springfield. They went to Cleveland on Sunday and returned to Springfield on Friday, stopping briefly in Marion enroute home.

However, as planned, Dr. Swank delivered his farewell sermon yesterday morning at Central Methodist church in Springfield. The day marked his fiftieth anniversary in the Methodist ministry and brought to a close one of the outstanding careers among Ohio's Methodist pastors.

Immediately after the service he and Mrs. Swank returned to Cleveland.

Dr. V. C. Kissell of Marion attended the service as delegate from Epworth church, replacing A. W. Kette, a brother of Mrs. Swank. Several members of Epworth church were at the service.

MILLIONS HIDE AS BRITISH BLOCK TWO THRUSTS AT LONDON

Reich's Capital Gets Taste of Air War
Germans Answer Savagely on Wide Front

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Berlin got its first taste of an air raid today when four waves of British bombers swooped above a protective ceiling of clouds, skirted spectacular German anti-aircraft fire and dropped incendiary bombs on the fringe of the city.

Berlin's 4,000,000 population huddled in cellars and shelters for three hours and four minutes during the early morning, but informed sources said only one three-room garden cottage in the northern suburb of Rosenthal was damaged by fire, and that there were no casualties.

The high command said it was the first time British planes had flown over the capital, but it was Berlin's fifth air raid alarm.

Germans said that there was no damage, and that one of the raiders was shot down. The high command said the "aimless" bombing hit only non-military objects.

Aim at British Fleets
The daily communique declared numerous bombings were carried out last night against the British airbase and armament industry, particularly at Birmingham, Kingstown and Coventry, where large fires and explosions were observed, and the airport at Warrwell, northwest of Portland, where "fierce airfights" developed.

The German radio said 1,500 bombs were dropped on 38 objectives in these sweeping raids.

Seventy-two British planes were shot down yesterday, the high command said, with 14 German planes missing, raising Saturday and Sunday totals to 136 and 84. Mines are still being laid in British ports, the communique said, and one German plane ventured 226 miles west of Landsend, into the Atlantic, to sink a 4,000-ton merchant ship.

U-Boats Active
Two U-boats reported the sinking of 76,170 tons of shipping, including four ships shot out of a convoy.

Meanwhile, Germany dispatched a note to Britain by way of Swiss diplomatic channels, warning that reprisals will be taken unless British aircraft stop firing upon first aid planes sent to rescue airmen shot down in the sea. Just before dispatch of the note was announced, officials said the crews of two British bombers were rescued last night by these first aid planes.

(The British have charged some of these planes with doing reconnaissance work.)

Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns went into action against the British squadrons which thundered over Berlin.

So incessant and ear-splitting was the cannonading it was impossible for observers to tell whether blasts of bombs were mingled with the gunfire. The British planes came over the city in at least four waves but authorities did not estimate their number.

Nazi Open Railway
(Reports from Switzerland said the German had re-opened the Basel railway, frontier gateway between Germany and Switzerland which had been closed since June 24. It closed was reported at the time to have been ordered to make German passengers feel the effects of the blockade.)

The Swiss high command's communique yesterday announced a new attack by British bombers on the port of Bremen, which was hit by three bombs, and on Tondern, north of Copenhagen, where one bomb fell.

British squadrons were reported to have been active over the North Sea and the English coast.

Dover Scene of Battle
The day's biggest battle raged over Dover, the English channel port only 22 miles from the French coast. Four of the attackers were downed here.

Pollard, a town of 25,000 people, was hit by a bomb, which fell in a house, killing one person and wounding two. The house was a school for the blind.

Eight HURT IN AUTO MISHAPS

Three Persons Taken to Bucyrus and Marion Hospitals.

Eight Marion motorists were injured, three seriously enough to be confined to hospitals, in three traffic mishaps in Marion and vicinity over the week-end.

Five Marion motorists, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brewer and J. J. Colless of 546 Ballewton avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Hill of 568 North State street, were riding in a car which left the highway and overturned Saturday afternoon on Route 4 at the south corporation limit of Bucyrus.

Mrs. Hill, 21, is in Bucyrus City hospital for treatment of possible fractured ribs and a laceration over the left eye. Mrs. Brewer was dismissed from the Bucyrus hospital yesterday after receiving treatment for injuries to her right leg and back. Mr. Hill and Mr. Brewer were given first aid treatment at the hospital and dismissed immediately. Mr. Colless escaped unhurt.

According to Crawford County Deputy Sheriff Ralph Schreck, Mr. Colless, driver of the automobile, said the wheels locked and threw the automobile into the ditch on the east side of the highway.

Accident Near Prospect
Mrs. Theodore Spradlin, 25, of 432 South Grand avenue is in City hospital here for treatment of a deep scalp laceration and body abrasions suffered shortly before noon yesterday when the car in which she, her husband and her two-year-old son, Theodore Spradlin Jr., skidded on Route 203 near Prospect and crashed into a utility pole.

Marion state patrolmen who investigated reported the car got out of control on the slippery pavement during a shower. It struck a guard rail on the right side of the road and then skidded to the left side of the highway, struck another guard rail and the utility pole and overturned, they said. Passing motorists extricated the Spradlins from the wreckage and started bringing them to the hospital. Enroute they met the Boyd ambulance, which had been summoned by other passersby, and the ambulance brought them into Marion.

Both Mr. Spradlin and Teddy Jr. escaped with minor cuts and abrasions, the patrol reported. The car was badly damaged.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26.—Two men serving life terms in Ohio penitentiary for a Cincinnati bank robbery were named by federal bureau of investigation agents today as the pair who held up a branch office of the Ohio National bank here Aug. 29, 1939.

MAN MISSING SINCE JULY 10 LOCATED

Robert E. Parish Returned to Home After Long Search.

Robert E. Parish, 34, of 384 Lee street, who had been missing from his home here since July 10, was located yesterday at the home of a friend in Cleveland, police reported. Members of the family brought him to Marion last night after he had been located there by Cleveland friends of the Parish family.

Police quoted relatives as saying he had been suffering from a mental disorder and had travelled through several western states before going to Cleveland a few days ago.

A widespread search for Mr. Parish was started after members of the family reported to police they had found his car parked in front of a building which was reported to be a saloon where he was known to frequent.

They were unable to locate him.

"Real" War Starts Now

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The "preliminaries" of the battle of Britain are over, the semi-official Dienst Aus Deutschland said tonight, and now begins the real war. The outbreak of Britain's war industries, its statement came on the heels of the heaviest air attack Berlin has suffered since the war began.

With last night's intensive raids on the British midlands—including the dropping of one-ton demolition bombs—a "new phase" of the war began, said the Dienst.

German air supremacy over the island kingdom has been achieved, the news commentary explained, and "now begins the planned destruction of industrial plants essential to war."

miles away, set great fires at Polkstone and bombed crowded streets, inflicting many casualties. All of the towns attacked—including Polkstone, Deal, and the cathedral city of Canterbury—and the South Foreland region, also under fire, lie in the Dover area which might be used as the gateway for a Nazi land invasion.

London's millions went scurrying to shelter at 3:26 p. m. (9:26 a. m. Marion time) when alarm sirens screamed, but they emerged again when the all-clear signal was given 37 minutes later without any sign of the raiders or any activity by the city's anti-aircraft guns.

ITALIAN SUB SINKS TANKER IN ATLANTIC

Rome Also Reports British Raids in Africa.

By The Associated Press
ROME, Aug. 26.—Italian submarines operating in the Atlantic have torpedoed and damaged a large British oil tanker, the Italian high command reported today.

A new attack on Alexandria, British base, also was carried out yesterday by Italian warplanes, a communique said. British air raids on Italian positions in East Africa were said to have killed eight persons at Gallabat, injured several civilians at Mogadiscio and wounded 18 Askari troops at Combolie.

The British high command's communique yesterday announced a new attack by British bombers on the port of Buenos Aires, which was hit by three bombs, and on Tondern, north of Copenhagen, where one bomb fell.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, August 27
MANY surprising denouements may be looked for on this day, with the augury of definite rewards and recognition of long-sustained and patient efforts in launching sound and practical projects which may have new features or novel constructive angles appealing to progressive and productive avenues for promotion and development. While merit and detail may be readily appreciated it may be just as well to hand over production to others, since the mental and nervous system are under high tension and ideas may be somewhat beclouded or confused.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of definite opportunity for placing new ideas, plans, inventions or projects both novel, practical and soundly constructive and having appeal to progressive channels for development and promotion. Such cooperation may be very desirable since the mind is in a more or less erratic or obscure state, and the nerves keyed up to hazardous tension or emotional excitement.

A child born on this day may be diligent hardworking and ambitious especially in creative work of a new and progressive trend.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY Young Taylor to "remember" the "moon" for the first time. She had been waiting for the moon to come out for the first time. She had been waiting for the moon to come out for the first time.

CHAPTER NINE Like An Older Sister

DON had sent the wire. But he was her brother. Didn't he understand she must be making the trip for the good of the whole family, his good as much as any one's? Couldn't he see beyond the end of his nose or didn't he care about any "moon"?

And if he didn't and Donna didn't and if her mother too was only interested in the present, then it was up to her to look to their future.

Constance stood up after her one brief moment of shock. "You are holding dinner for me. Meg come on, and thank you dear."

Peter Taylor wondered if Constance Cabrillo would undergo a sea change in her room or if she had changed places with some older sister.

The young business woman who came into the dining room seemed years older than the ruffled haired youngster who had gone in.

And the change was deeper than a change of clothing. He questioned Meg with his eyes and Meg standing behind Constance a chair signaled back a lady's graceful, of her brow and eyes which sought to express sympathy and an appeal to Peter to be kind to the girl.

Peter tried without much success.

What would you like to do this afternoon, Miss Cabrillo? Constance seemed to bring herself back to the present.

You haven't said how long you intended remaining. I'd like to plan a few trips for your some entertainment and well show you around the ranch.

Thank you, Constance answered thoughtfully. I do want to see the ranch but not today. Is Beachport within easy driving distance?

Two hours along the coast road may I drive you there?

No thank you. And about my visit I had intended going back tonight. Now I may stay several days.

Taylor asked no further questions of Constance but when she had hurried down the hill he called Meg to him.

What happened? he demanded bluntly. Come on, come on something happened to Miss Cabrillo after she went to the room with you Meg? He eyed her suspiciously. You know something out with it!

Meg shifted from foot to foot her face red, her apron fluttering with the agitation of her hands. And if I do you spoiled son of a black Irishman should I be telling you and breaking my promise to her?

Taylor shook his head. "She had Maria eating out of her hand before she was well in the house and now you and both of you women haters."

"Faith, it's a woman hater you yourself. Watch she doesn't have a nibble from her fingers."

You needn't worry about me. She's a Cabrillo.

And is she now? Meg's hands came to her hips. "If she is she's the odd one. If what you've been telling me is the truth about them poor pet, you stand there condemning her and she with her heart broken! Why don't you get yourself out, fix up a fool for a thing, fella of what?"

Two hands came belatedly to Meg's mouth and her skirts whirled as she rushed into the house before her tongue further betrayed her vow of secrecy.

Work. Peter flung after her. If she works she isn't a Cabrillo. And he went off on the hill to see Constance alone going to the little cemetery.

Only a longing.

Constance walked on leaden feet. She stopped at the picket gate to notice how well the graves have been tended, how clear the paths, then moved on to her father's grave.

For a long time she stood conscious of the stillness about her.

She had no idea of bringing a grave only a longing. "If you could tell me what I should do," she murmured. "With the world so troubled did you mean I should keep this place as a haven for them?"

There was no answer there and she started out to stop at a monument which thrust an aggressive shaft towards the heavens as though the one beneath it had defied eternity and demanded admission.

Constance smiled slowly. So that was the answer. It was there in the answer. You win what you fight for. Old Michael's honey belief of the Constance could picture him wrangling a choice seat in the hereafter.

She saluted the shaft and hurried on to the ranch unaware of a man in a hilltop who watched her a strange unwilling tender near in his eyes.

There was no tenderness in the eyes of Constance Cabrillo when she ordered Julian to have her brought around and someone preferably Dolores who knew the road. Beachport with it.

On Dolores' resplendent in a blue and black stockings, was subdued by the Cabrillo countenance.

Julian, Constance leaned from the driver's seat. Who handles the Cabrillo affairs at Beachport?

Senior Franck, the judge. He is at the courthouse opposite the third floor from the front door of the building which is with cigar and cigar counters occupied.

Constance gasped and thanked him. And no word to anyone of where I'm going Julian?

She drove down El Camino Real loving each evenly spaced tree each foot of brown earth the vista of blue sea at the end of the avenue.

These things were enduring. Human feelings were not. She had thought that in a crisis her family would stand by give her some credit for business acumen.

Intending her move her own brother had forewarned she couldn't call the Taylors enemies.

This bothered her for many miles. The Taylors had not followed the telegram. They had not tried to freeze her out. Instead they had given her a warm welcome.

Perhaps she thought they now sought to disarm her in this way. "Dolores, tell me something of the Taylors. How did they happen to come here to the ranch? Where did they get the money they evidently have?"

From Texas came the Senior Taylor and the beautiful senora who was still with the heart she suffered. The doctors they say for her are all the low altitude. For a little while they visit the resorts but Senior Taylor he cannot what you call twiddle the thumb?

Constance smiled. No Mr Taylor was hardly one to sit twiddling thumbs.

"So then," continued Dolores.

he meet with your father at Santa Barbara the estate and you later he tell him he has one ranch which needs the good cattle man. Senior Taylor he come to the ranch and he roar he say "What tell I build them over for you and you take them over for you have them new manager. So your father he say No I give to you management so long as these ranches she is in my hands."

So Dolores exhaled with gusto they come and soon young Pedro he come from the school militia in Texas and very happy they are with much work and much climate.

Always they speak of when they go back to Texas, then the senora's heart, she quit, sudden two year ago. Now say the senora Taylor to Texas we go. Only now they have like El Cabrillo better than Texas so then they sell the ranch what they have in that pandante. Senior Conchita how does one have the ranch in the pandante?

Constance answered vaguely. The pandante is a section of Texas so called because of the shape of the state on the map.

She was thinking this accounts for their money. They've had an income from their home ranch. They could have bought and sold the Cabrillos anytime.

Only why did they have to have El Cabrillo? There must be other ranches in the same vicinity. Why try to rob the Cabrillos?

Gradually she worked up an anger at Pedro's attitude. The time he used when he suggested she could not find money for her very own ranch. His superior attitude. He'd acted as though were the host and she a mere guest while in reality she was his employer.

Mina's Tim's engine boiled into Beachport. Constance was surprised to find such a thrilling little city. It sprawled out over the sand flats to wharves and industries edging the bay then crept back up into the hills in attractive homes.

A passing logging train blocked their way. Constance saw nothing in the great heavy lengths moving past on flat cars, to point to her future. She only wished they would move more quickly.

In town she located the courthouse and across the green found a building and Judge Franck's office. Yes he would see her if she would be brief.

Constance, stiffened with resentment. He'd been retained by the Cabrillos since he was out of law school. No one had bothered him since her father's time and now she must be brief. She wondered if he too had received a telegram.

Sit down, Mike Cabrillo said the secretary after taking her into the Judge's.

Constance was conscious of the Judge staring at her. She stared right back. He had the appearance of an ancient tree in that rumpled gray suit. His skin was like the November leaf of an elm yellow and dry. She wondered if it would crumble if she touched it.

What brings you here? Constance jumped at the question. There was nothing old about his voice it crackled with vitality. I don't intend sitting clear across the room here so you can shout your answers to the world," Constance informed him.

Answers answers. Me give answers? Definitely yes. I'm Constance Cabrillo and I intend to know all you know about the El Cabrillo situation before I leave this office.

COKE AND PIG IRON SHORTAGE FEARED

Magazine Reports Apprehension Over Supply of Materials.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND Aug. 26.—Some apprehension is developing over possible shortage of coke and pig iron, the magazine Steel said today in its weekly review of the industry.

"An important steelmaker recently bartered scrap for pig iron with two other interests. The trade publication reported. While no shortage has developed yet, it is possible enlarged steelmaking and foundry operations coupled with large domestic ore demand in the fall may cause difficulties."

There is a general feeling Steel continued, that there will be no important change in fourth quarter prices, announcement of which may be made within a short time.

Despite the high rate of output, deliveries on some products continue to extend further, as peculiar steel requiring special treatment are being made. Somewhat larger production is expected when vacation interruptions are at an end when work is resumed for part of moment in increased buying in early fall. The margin of possible increase is small but every effort is being made to put equipment in condition to carry as much of the as possible.

Production went up a half point last week to 90.5 per cent of estimated capacity, the rate of the preceding week, the magazine said.

lated housing and private factory construction at some centers.

Up $4 Per Cent
Dun & Bradstreet reported building permits in July in the central region increased 30 per cent over the same month last year, totaling $32,151,000 against $21,315,000. Industrial centers in this area include Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Cleveland.

Percentage-wise, the central area in July was topped only by South Atlantic cities, where residential building and new naval and air bases have helped raise the figures well above last year. TVA territory, with cheap power from federal-financed dams and generating stations, is expected to draw more war industry, although some industrialists contend the skilled labor supply there is too small.

Aside from the Memphis powder factory, a new airplane venture at Nashville has been earmarked by expansion and aluminum capacity is being increased.

Leading Cities Gain
Building gains at industrial centers are evident in the following comparison for the first seven months of 1940 and 1939 from Dun & Bradstreet figures for leading cities: (1940 figures are listed first after each city)

Detroit	$39,443,000	$35,021,000
Chicago	$21,384,000	$17,694,000
Baltimore	$20,390,000	$8,688,000
Cincinnati	$11,550,000	$7,933,000
Cleveland	$10,992,000	$8,555,000
Pittsburgh	$9,878,000	$4,173,000

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Vision and Grades.
ONE of the teachers in a grade school heard that the psychology department in a nearby university was giving paper and pencil tests to children to determine their I. Q. ratings. She had her entire class examined and found she had what she considered an unusually large group of low ratings. In talking this over with another teacher it was suggested that this same group be examined by a member of the staff of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Nearly half the group had visual defects sufficient to interfere with their seeing critically and accurately.

A Definite Handicap
This is a rather high finding, but taking large groups of children with low intelligence ratings, it is found that about 10 per cent have visual defects which account for their low scores in intelligence tests.

Supervision of school examinations for visual efficiency should be made much more exact and comprehensive than it now is. In some school systems the entire program for eye health is based on whether a child is able to read a 20-20 chart. Not much attention is paid to what kind of a chart it is, whether one drawn to the scale of Snellen measurements or not, nor whether the tests are made according to controlled and consistent standards of lighting. This, of course, is not adequate if any large amount of food is to be done to directing improvement in vision in our schools.

Far-Sightedness Common
It would be a safe guess to assume that if the majority of school nurses were asked what visual defect is commonest among our school children they would reply near-sightedness. But the experienced school ophthalmologist would reply far-sightedness.

The most common eye difficulties found among the elementary school children are:

1. Errors of refraction of various degrees occurring in the following order of frequency: far-sightedness (hyperopia), astigmatism, and near-sightedness (myopia).
2. Failure of the two eyes to work together, forms of strabismus or squint—muscle intolerance.
3. Eye diseases affecting the different parts of the eye such as corneal opacities, iritis, recurrent pink eye, ingrowing eye lashes.
4. Congenital and hereditary diseases of the eye.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
C. N., Astoria, Long Island—"I have bunions on both my feet. Do you advise an operation? I am 48 years old. My husband says I will become a cripple if I have them removed as I am too old."

Answer—Certainly operations can be done successfully for bunions, and 48 is not too old an age for such an operation. In fact, bunion does not come on until middle age, so all operations are done late in life. If the orthopedic surgeon, and he should be selected with more care for a bunion than for an appendicitis operation, does not interfere with the head of the metatarsal bone too much, the gait afterwards will be natural and painless. Your husband should wake up—48 is the prime of life. Maybe he is trying to get your goat.

L. S.—"Is the regular use of margarine detrimental?"
Answer—Certainly not. Lulu G. Graves, in her book "Foods in Health and Disease," says: "Margarine consists of vegetable and animal fat. Has practically the same fuel value as butter, and is as easily digested, and contains an equal amount of vitamins and minerals. It is good for butter, and is a good substitute for butter in cooking and baking."—L. S.

New England Town Has Community Garden To Help Feed War Victims

By The Associated Press
GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Aug. 26.—This typical New England town, stirred by reports of food shortages abroad, has pitched in to help—not with money or with promises, but with food from its own soil.

A sign on the main highway by a one-acre field under cultivation proclaims:

"Great Barrington Division—Berkshire Family Relief Field No. 2."

And around the town are other fields, all planted to carrots, beets and beans for hungry mouths of Europe.

It all started less than four weeks ago.

Great Barrington, Berkshire music center and New York socialite summer resort, has about 6,000 year-round inhabitants, elm-bordered streets, and colonial houses, and—a town hall.

To the town hall came 40 or 50 people for an extemporaneous meeting on the European relief question.

At first there was desultory talk of fund-raising. Then Delaney Burke, retired New York merchant and acting counsel who was acting as chairman, said:

"Let's forget about money. Let's do this in the New England way, like the minute men did. Food is needed—why not give food? Why not raise it ourselves?"

The glimmer of an idea flashed through the audience. M. Curtin Whalen, a local auto and tractor distributor, jumped up and yelled:

"I'll plow up Main street if you want!"

A woman called out, "I'll contribute an acre of land!"

"That's the land I'm going to plow," Whalen called back. "And not by tomorrow night—I'll have it done by noon!"

Someone else yelled, "I'll have an acre plowed and planted in 24 hours—all the town will have to do is pick the stuff!"

A woman called out that she'd contribute canning equipment, and somebody else offered the space for it.

"How many people can I count on to help with the planting?" Burke demanded.

The entire audience jumped up. "Canning?" The same response again.

And the next day dewagers, debutantes and townspeople pitched in, planting, cultivating, canning, and helping with the campaign—among them Albert Spalding, the violinist, and his wife, William Barrett, New York industrialist; Arthur Rodzinski, the conductor.

The first produce is already up. Other produce was contributed from private gardens, and more than 100 cans have been put up. A total of 10,000 cans is the tentative goal.

The sponsors plan to give the food to the Red Cross for shipment abroad.

Nearby communities are taking up the idea. It has already precipitated in Great Barrington and extensive local defense program.

And one of the town selectmen who owns an airplane wants to fly to Washington and tell them all about it.

Two Old Men Prove That Yankees and Cardinals Are Not Invincible

Lyons, Posedel Stop Win Streaks Of New York and St. Louis.

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Aging Ted Lyons and Sailor Bill Posedel deserve a vote of thanks. They proved to be an anxious baseball world that the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals, possessors of two terrific winning streaks, aren't invincible, after all.

It took some courage for the two old men to find that out. The Yanks, thirsting for blood, had just won six straight from the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians. The Cards' nine successes were making their admirers recall the stirring moments of the stretch spurt that nearly caught the Cincinnati Reds last year.

Headcuts Yanks

Lyons' 18 years of service in the majors stood him in good stead in the first game of the White Sox-Yanks doubleheader at the stadium before 70,740 yesterday. He handcuffed the Yanks with three hits to blank them 1-0 in the opener. Posedel twirled a five-hitter to give the Boston Bees a 4-1 victory over the Cardinals.

The Yanks came back with Ernie Bonham pitching a five-hitter to blast the Sox 3-1 in the afterpiece while the Cards outslugged the Bees 8-5 to square the day's proceedings.

The Yankee split plus Washington's victory over the Cleveland Indians by a 6-4 count left the world champions in third place only 8 1/2 games back of the Tribe.

The Detroit Tigers also cut the Indians' edge over second place to 2 1/2 games by thumping the Athletics 7-3.

In the American league's other offering the Boston Red Sox dropped into second division by losing the first game to Johnny Niggeling and the St. Louis Browns 7-2 but then crept back into fourth place with a 17-3 win in the short night game.

The top club in the National league fared better than the top one in the American. The Cincinnati Reds won a pair from the Phillies 1-2 and 6-1 to stretch their advantage over the Dodgers to 7 1/2 games.

The first game was a thriller in which hurler Jim Turner after allowing only five hits sparked the Reds ninth inning attack with a double and scored the winning run.

Frank McCormick hit his 12th homer of the season in the opening round of the nightcap, scoring two runners ahead of him. Johnny Rizzo who the Reds traded to Philadelphia last June scored a round tripper his 21st of the year in the second round.

Ripple A W O L

Jimmy Ripple the outfielder the Reds obtained a few days ago from Montreal is a W O L (he went without official leech) club officials revealed.

The Dodgers split with the Reds 4-1 and 1-0 in a doubleheader at St. Louis.

The Cardinals won the first game 4-1 and the second 8-5.

The Yankees won the first game 1-0 and the second 3-1.

The Browns won the first game 7-2 and the second 17-3.

The Athletics won the first game 7-3 and the second 1-0.

The Tigers won the first game 7-3 and the second 1-0.

The Indians won the first game 1-0 and the second 1-0.

The Sox won the first game 3-1 and the second 1-0.

The Bees won the first game 4-1 and the second 8-5.

The Cardinals won the first game 4-1 and the second 8-5.

The Yankees won the first game 1-0 and the second 3-1.

The Browns won the first game 7-2 and the second 17-3.

The Athletics won the first game 7-3 and the second 1-0.

Pittsburgh Pirates losing the first 4-3 on Dick Lanning's eighth-inning hit but winning the second 8-1 as Fred Fitzsimmons spun a five-hitter for his 13th win of the season.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs split a double bill. Chicago took the first 5-4 while the Giants won the nightcap 12-8.

SPORTS THE MARION STAR

Now Tossing for the Dodgers

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Odds on the Yanks to top the pennant have dropped from 12 to 1 right down to 4-1 since they started to nuzzle the last couple of weeks and the guys who study things like that say the Indians never will recover from the beating Bobby Feller took from the champs Saturday after he had a no-hitter just about in his hip pocket. The Docs have put an official "okay" on Bill DeCortis' minus his appendix and say he'll be ready to carry the mail for Northwestern this fall—which shouldn't be anything for the rest of the Big Ten to start cheering about.

Out of the mail bag Edward S. Kennedy Kansas City Col. Bradley never had a horse that rated the positive degree of the adjective "great." Brother who ever called Blue Larkspur a bum? James F. McKenzie Chattanooga You make a long range prediction for Duke to beat Tennessee. We wonder if you'd like to back it up with a little U. S. currency (Pal we guarantee nothing).

Credit Ted Lyons who's crowding 40 with the trick of the week—that three-hitter against the Yanks—which comes out here in a couple of couplets.

Teddy Lyons, old and gray. Bent the Yankees yesterday. Let them down with just three hits.

And left the sluggers throwing fits.

Bob Pastor starts training again today for that off again on again waltz with Billy Conn.
